CONSULAR AND JUDICIAL POWERS. Junn 22.—In the matter of Frederick Kessler.—The seemer in this case was arrested on the 19th instant, the United States Marshal, on the requision of Ferd nd Karck, Consul at New York for the city of Ham-rg. The following is a copy of the letter of the

Censul:—
2 Bin—Under the convention for the mutual extension of jurisdiction of the Consuls, between the United States of America and the Republic of Hamburg, Bremen, and Lubek, proclaimed the 6th of June, 1883, I beg leave to requestyou to safely keep the body of the seaman F. Kassler, belonging to the crew of the hismburg bark Eliza Rybeke, from Simmburg, until I have an oppotunity of sending said esaman back to Hamburg for trial. I have the honor to be your obtainst servant.

FERDINAND KARCK Consul to Hamburg. To Aug. T. Hillver, Esq., United States Marshal. To Aus. T. Hillver, Esq., United States Marshal.

The Marshal proceeded to arrest Kessler, whom he caused to be comined in the city prison, and a writ of habeas corpus was taken out, on which the prisoner was brought before Judge Morrie. It is alleged by the Consult that Kessler was engaged in a mutiny on board the diamburg bark klins Rybeke, and that he had also deserted her. The Consul consequently claims, that, by virtue of a treaty between the United States and Hansatic Republics of Remen, Hamburg and Lubec, ratified June 6, 1868, he is empowered to have the prisoner arrested and returned to Hamburg for trial. Article I. of the treaty, the part on which he relies for these powers, is as follows:—

The censuls, vice consuls, commercial agents and vice commercial agents of each of the high contracting parties shall have the right, as such, to sit as judges and arbitrators, in such differences as may arise between the masters and crews of its vessels belonging to the matica whose interests are committed to their charge, without the interference of the tocal submyling the conduct of the crews of the master should disturb the order or tranquillity of the country, or the said consuls, &c., should require their assistance in executing or supporting their own decisions. But this species of judgment or arbitration shall not deprive the contending parties of the right they have to resort, or their steurs, to the judicial authority of their own country.

Counsel for the prisoner contended that this article of the treaty referred only to civil actions, such as seamen's wages and the like, and not to criminal matters. The treaty referred only to civil actions, such as seamen's wages and the like, and not to criminal matters. The less denied that the marshal was a "local authority" is the meaning of the treaty, and contended that the rreat and imprisonment of Kessler should have been ordered by some judicial and not wecentive officer.

Mr. John Anthon, whe appeared on behalf of the Consul, opposed this construction of the treaty, and observed that if this treaty should fail to cover the case, the general treaty previously made with Humburg, in which that city was distinctly placed on the fooling of the most favored nations, would justify the course pursued by the Consul. He also contended that proceedings of this nature must necessarily be summary, for unless the prisoner can be at once arrested and conveyed home for trial, he may escape, and the ends of justice be defeated. The length of time that would necessarily elapse before the to

In the publication of the synopsis or evidence before the Fire Marshal, of the fire at No. 10 Msiden lane, a pertion of my afidavit (important io me) was omitted. The following is the portion referred to:—

I doubt very much if the spontaneous combustion alsueds to took piace in the colored wheels manufactured by me; my reason for thinking so is that I have manufactured for twenty-right years past, and no occurrence of the kind took place in my factory, or to my knowledge elsewhere, where my fireworks have been stored exclusively; I recollect, about two years ago, an explosion of fireworks took place on the premises of Joseph B. Purdy, No. 34 Maiden lane; I don't think his fireworks were exclusively from me; I know he had some works of other makers; Mr. Purdy at that time told me that it was one of my wheels (colored), fan exhibition piece, that first took fire; if it was one of my wheels, i think it had been impreperly placed under the skylight, so that the rays of the aun through the glass caused the combustion, since that fire Mr. Purdy has purchased several exhibition pieces of me, but has not taken a general assertment for his store; a few days ago Mr. Purdy wrote to me for some works on commission, but I did not let him have any; I have no special agent in this city; I don't let dealers have works on sale or return.
